Dear Dr. Thompson,

We are pleased to inform you that your article, "Streamlined method for anchoring cataract surgery and intraocular lens centration on the patient's visual axis," published in the May 2018 issue of the JCRS, has been selected to receive the 2018 Rosen Award. This annual award is presented to the author(s) of the best technique article published in the year, as voted on by the editors.

If you are attending the 37th Congress of the ESCRS, September 14-18, 2019, Paris, France, we would be delighted to present the award in person at the JCRS Symposium. Further details will be provided if you are able to attend. If you are not attending the congress, other arrangements will be made for you to receive the award.

Congratulations!

With our best wishes,

Nick Mamalis
